Dept. of Agriculture, Economic Research Service, 2004 LC Number: HV696. F6 P73 2004 OCLC Number: (OCoLC)60336659 Subject: Infant formula industry -- United States. Excerpt: . . . When a State has a single contract brand, doctors or hospitals may tend to promote that brand either through recommendations or the provision of formula samples. Such promotions may lead to a brand-inducement behavior by which the (representative) non-WIC household favors the contract brand when making its out-of-pocket formula purchase. The model does not require that all out-of-pocket households must behave this way, but if some proportion of them do then u will be positive for the representative 10 10 Whether a manufacturer is the household. contract or a noncontract brand in a given area, the manufacturer has an A second, distinct effect occurs if (at least some) non-WIC households favor incentive to promote its brand in the the brand that has a greater presence on the supermarket shelf. Given that a medical community so that doctors sole-source contract is in effect, and that WIC formula is estimated to and hospitals may recommend the account for over half of infant formula sales, the contract brand is likely to brand to patients. Some purchases by some patients may be attributable to have more shelf space than the noncontract brand.
